DREAMTIME NIGHTMARES

This collection of eight biographies of Aborigines vividly recalling their days on the big stations in outback Australia is an amazingly disturbing yet valuable book to all who are interested in the history of black and white relationships in Australia. It was for this book that Bill Rosser was presented with the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission's inaugural human rights award for literature.

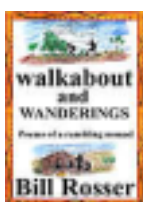

PEOPLE & PLACES

These poems simply bristle with brilliance! Multi-award winning Aboriginal historian and author, he encountered many strange and fascinating tales during his many years as an Aboriginal researcher and he has now recorded these experiences in articulate verse. Indeed, many critics have likened his work to that of the famous Banjo Patterson, a rare tribute, no doubt.

MASSACRE

A History of Ethnic Cleansing in Australia. Award-winning Australian Aboriginal author, Bill Rosser, writes a chilling story of the extermination of entire tribes of Aborigines. This is a book for those who doubt how depressingly cheap life was held during the early days of white settlement in Australia.

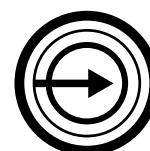

WALKABOUT & WANDERINGS

Among many other adventures the book takes the reader on several Aboriginal hunting forays. Believe me, until you have hunted emu or kangaroo with Aborigines in the wild you haven't lived! No rifles here.

"This book could only have been written through hands-on experience. Some customs never before divulged to white man are exposed here." Charles Blake. Echo.
